

Dominick Gladstone – short bio

Dominick Gladstone is a person in long term stable recovery for close to 20 years. Since his early days in recovery, he has advocated for changes in how we speak about and treat addiction. He has served as a consultant to nonprofits and has produced recovery related events locally, regionally, and nationally.

Gladstone currently serves the state Opioid Advisory Commission as a Team Leader for community engagement. Dominick also serves as a member of the Kalamazoo County Opioid Task Force.

His latest effort is to grow grassroots leadership around the State of Michigan through the Recovery Advocacy Project, a 501-c4, that can lobby for change.
